SCHOOLS EXCEL AT STATE FAIR

Twenty-Three Major Awards, Thirteen Blue Ribbons Claimed

(The ribbons won by the county school display at the state fair are displayed in the windows of the Placerville News Company. In connection with the participation by the schools in the fair, it should be remembered that El Dorado schools do not have an art supervisor, which reflects further credit upon the work of the pupils; and that the exhibit at the fair involves no expense to the county, Mrs. Dwyer paying her own expenses.—Ed.)

By MRS. KATHLEEN DWYER
Rural School Supervisor

The educational display of El Dorado County Schools at the State Fair, in competition with other California counties won twenty-three major awards, thirteen of which were blue ribbons or first prizes, nine red ribbons or second prizes and one white ribbon for a special award.

RAIN AT BAY

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—A severe electrical storm, accompanied by heavy rainfall, swept over the San Francisco bay area today. Trees also were damaged in the storm which the weather bureau declared as "very unusual" for this area.

CCC PROJECTS OUTLINED

Continuance Of 2 Camps In County Until Mar. 31 Is Definitely Assured

Definite word has been received that of the 36 CCC camps to be operating in national forests in California during the so-called fourteenth period from October 1, 1939, to March 31, 1940, two will be on the Eldorado National Forests, Supervisor Edwin F. Smith said Wednesday.

One will continue in its present location at Camp Snowline, the other will move from Camp Caldor to Camp Mosquito on or about October 31.

The work projected for the Mosquito Camp will include reducing curvature at many points along the new Mosquito road; road improvement and construction on the Slate and Bald Mountain road systems; fire protection in the Whaler Creek area, and felling of snags along various roads as a means of reducing fire hazards from lightning. Crews from the Snowline camp will be kept busy completing fish rearing ponds in the American River Canyon in cooperation with the Eldorado Rod and Gun Club; feeding racks will be constructed in the Big Bend country in cooperation with the Rod and Gun Club and the Fish and Game Commission; a new ski shelter and ski trail will be constructed at Lovers Leap in cooperation with the Placerville Ski Club. Camp ground construction and improvement will be conducted in camps in the American River Canyon, and at the El Dorado County Camp at the south end of Lake Tahoe an ambitious program has been planned in cooperation with the County Board of Supervisors. Reforestation work will be resumed above Kyburz in the area burned over in 1931, and a general improvement program at the Institute of Forest Genetics will also be carried on.

Much good work for the benefit of the general public has been performed in this area by the CCC during its six and one-half years of existence, and it is hoped that the above two camps may be continued for some time to come, Smith stated.

CONGRESS TO MEET SEPT. 21

President Issues Call For Special Session, Presumably On Neutrality

WASHINGTON, (UP)—President Roosevelt today called congress into special session Sept. 21.

He called congress to convene at noon and receive a communication from the executive department presumably requesting it to repeal the mandatory embargo on shipments of arms to European belligerents.

Mr. Roosevelt signed a proclamation ordering the extraordinary session a few minutes before noon.

He telegraphed invitations to senate majority leader Allen W. Barkley, D., Ky., senate Republican leader Charles McNary, Ore., house majority leader Sam Rayburn, D., Tex., and house minority floor leader Jos. W. Martin, R., Mass., to meet with him at the White House for an informal conference on Sept. 20.

The call for the session did not specify what issues the President would ask congress to consider.

The special session call was announced by Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early at a special press conference shortly after the proclamation was signed.

Summit Wins Electricity

Work Starts This Week On Extension Projected by District Farm Center

The general construction department of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company is starting work this week on an extension of electric power service to the Summit schoolhouse and between ten and fourteen users in the vicinity.

This is according to an announcement Tuesday by Roy G. Strum, district manager for the company. Realization of the project represents fulfillment of a campaign undertaken a year or more ago by the members of the South Side Farm Center, who saw the need for electric power in the vicinity and whose members have been instrumental in concluding the arrangements which make electrification possible.

According to Mr. Strum, between four and five miles of new power line will be built and the line will connect with the existing power facilities at the Forbes-Baxter mine, being served from the automatic sub-station at Diamond Springs.

Mrs. Elliott Returns from Hawaii Vacation

Mrs. Mary Jane Elliott, of the Institute of Forest Genetics staff, returned Sunday from a month's vacation trip to Hawaii. Mrs. Elliott reports her visit in the islands was made the more enjoyable by the circumstance that she met Miss Katherine Cunningham, daughter of William Cunningham, Sr., of Placerville, who is teaching in the islands this year, and they had many happy times together.

Supervisor Cyril Heusner was a caller Wednesday morning from near Shingle Springs.

Picnic? No! Evacuation

This is not a scene of children going to a picnic. These kiddies are shown in a drill for evacuation of London. Great Britain is rushing as many of its citizens as possible out of its big cities, fearful of air raids. London, alone, is evacuating nearly 8,000,000 persons.

The official re-opening and dedication service of the Church of Our Saviour on Sunday morning, September 17th, will mark the culmination of a year's intensive work in the renovation and rehabilitation of this historic landmark of El Dorado County.

Work was started on the outside of the building on August 8th, 1938, and by the end of the year the church had been re-shingled, paneled and a new brick entrance installed. Early in June of this year work began on the inside of the building. The interior walls have been done in cathedral stone effect, all the stained glass windows have been repaired, the Sanctuary and new carpet laid in sanctuary, chancel and aisles. Painters are busy this week adding the finishing touches preparatory to the re-opening service next Sunday morning.

The building committee was composed of Messrs.: M. T. Kelly, chairman; S. E. Ronzone, C. Wildman, U. C. Meyers and G. A. Van Vleck. The finance committee was headed by J. G. Leonard as chairman, with Messrs.: F. O. Spicer, treasurer; F. O. Knacke, Ed. Barnard and Dr. W. A. Rantz.

Contributions for the work came from interested parties in Placerville and El Dorado County and from many fraternal, civic and educational bodies, to all of whom the thanks of the vestry and congregation is warmly extended.

The list of contributors is too lengthy for publication but the names of donors will be kept in the vaults of the church as a valuable record for future generations.

The rector, Rev. Rex A. Barron, extends a cordial invitation to the public to join in the re-opening and dedication service next Sunday morning, September 17th at eleven o'clock.

The September 4 issue of The New York Post has all of the appearance of having been a legitimate and regular edition of the paper and we will have to await Loren's return before we shall explain Gotham's enthusiastic recognition of Placerville and one of its favorite sons.

"Rising Sun House" Shown At Museum

The model of the old Rising Sun House at Rescue, which was the central figure of the exhibit at the county fair by Rescue Grange, has been removed to the county historical society and will be permanently exhibited there.

The "Rising Sun House" was erected in the early 1850s by Samuel B. Pelton and the model of the historic place is made from lumber in the original building, which was shipped "round the Horn" to California.

Mrs. Alice Lyon has returned from Phillips Station, where she spent the summer.

The Poles claimed today that they had thrown back German invaders as Great Britain and France pledged themselves to crush Adolf Hitler.

Radio messages and Polish dispatches reaching London and Paris said that the defending troops had broken out of the military trap in which the Nazis caught them, recaptured the city of Lodz and hurled German troops west of Warsaw back into the Warta Valley.

The Polish claims were disputed by the Germans, the official Nazi radio broadcast from Berlin asserting that Adolf Hitler had visited Lodz this afternoon on his tour of the Polish front.

In Berlin, the Nazi high command asserted that the Polish counter attacks had been repulsed, that the steel band around Warsaw was almost closed and that Germany was on the verge of victory. (Continued on page 3)

Millers Flee War Zone

County Couple Expected To Reach New York Thursday Of Last Week

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Miller, of Cool, are presumably enroute home from Europe and their schedule called for the arrival of their ship, the liner Manhattan, at New York last Thursday.

They had been in Europe about two months and expected to stay until February; Mr. Miller doing promotional work for the California Fruit Exchange. Then the war came.

In a letter to Farm Advisor Ivan Lilley, Mr. Miller outlined their plans for returning home and told something of the preparations then being made in London to defend the city against air raids.

The letter bore no date, but bore an August 31 postmark.

Miller reported that he would not go into detail about the preparations being made throughout the city but that he would mention what was being done at their hotel, and that the same thing was being done elsewhere.

The hotel occupied an entire block and the first floor front of the building on all sides was walled with sand bags. Sand bags had been put upon the roof and where there were light wells, these were covered over and then sand bags were applied. He spoke, also, of considerable quantities of steel being carried into the hotel for strengthening basement bomb shelters.

All manner of defense precautions were taken in public parks, he said, and some of the old stained glass windows of the churches had been removed and buried.

Included in the items of association business was a report of $10,000 expended for general advertising purposes during the past year and the announcement of a budget of $12,000 for the same purpose for the coming season.

Today's Fashion

Tweed with Persian trim.

By VERA WINSTON

MANY of the smartest and dressiest of the new town suits are fashioned of tweed. This fabric is so soft and fine nowadays that it can be handled like supple silk or fine cloth. Here is a suit of imported tweed, plum color and blue, with a nubbed surface. It has Persian lamb banding at the small round neck, down the front and outlining the peplum which dips in back. A high shoulder yoke terminates in seaming down either side of the bodice and around the back to define the waistline.

Moose Names Its First Governor

Fraternity After Fifty Years Abandons Title of "Dictator"

On August 31, at Philadelphia, Pa., during the Fifty-first Annual International Convention of the Supreme Lodge of the World, Loyal Order of Moose, Fred W. Zabel, of Davenport, Iowa, was unanimously elected Supreme Governor, the highest elective office in the gift of the Fraternity. His term of office began September 1.

Like so many men who have built enviable reputations for themselves, in politics, business, or the professions, Fred W. Zabel was born on a farm. There, he spent the early part of his life.

Mr. Zabel's birthplace was Scott County, Iowa. After leaving the public schools he entered St. Mary's College, Kansas. He began his banking career in McCausland, Iowa, as bookkeeper in the local bank. At the close of a year he was invited by the Durant Savings Bank, Durant, Iowa, to become Assistant Cashier, a position which he held for five years. Promotion again followed. In 1918, he accepted the position of Assistant Cashier at the Union Savings Bank & Trust Company, Davenport. A year later he became Cashier of the same institution, and soon was promoted to the Vice Presidency. (The Union Savings Bank was one of the largest financial institutions in the Middle West, with total assets of $28,000,000 and Zabel was credited with being the youngest Cashier of an institution of this size in the Middle West.)

A Conservative Banker

During 1933, '34, and '35, he was with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the State Superintendent of Banking. In 1936, he resigned to accept a position as Iowa representative of Brown, Harriman & Company, New York, one of the oldest and largest investment banking houses in the country. In 1937, he became associated with the firm of Murdoch, Dearth & White, one of the leading investment banking houses in Iowa. Today he is Vice President of the Merchants National Bank of Aurora, Illinois, which office he assumed August 1, 1939. During his entire banking career, Fred W. Zabel has been regarded as a conservative banker, and has devoted years to the study and analysis of high-grade securities.

But the profession of banking did not engross the whole attention of this public-spirited citizen of Iowa.

He became Director of Davenport's Chamber of Commerce, a charter member and Director of the Kiwanis Club, and Secretary-Treasurer of the Civic Welfare Organization of Davenport.

He has ever been an ardent fraternalist, as witness: He is a Thirty-second Degree Mason, a Shriner,

FRED W. ZABEL
Newly Elected Head of the Moose

and an active Moose. He was elected Dictator of Davenport Lodge No. 28, and without interruption served in this capacity for fourteen years. As Dictator, the membership grew from 700 to 2,800 members. When he resigned, the lodge had assets above $50,000.

In 1931, his Moose associates in the Supreme Lodge, appreciating the magnificent service that he had given to their Fraternity, unanimously elected him a member of the Supreme Council, and at the Cleveland Convention, 1937, Supreme Prelate, and member of the Publications Board. Further honors came to him at the close of the Convention in June, 1938, when he was unanimously elected Supreme Vice Dictator, and in 1939, when he became Supreme Governor.

He is affable in approach, urbane in manner and speech, and deeply sincere in all his relations with his fellow men.

Mr. Zabel is married and has two children—James and Joan.

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK, (U) — There are a number of very pathetic figures wandering dejectedly about the grounds of the west side tennis club at Forest Hills these days. There is, for instance, the "tennis rabbit" who is allowed to play in the national championships just so that the draw will come out even, like the 14th guest at a dinner party.

Then there are the unseeded players who come equipped with "First ten" optimism but, unfortunately, public park strokes. Then there is the official who has been able to get only nine committee badges and has to go around immodestly with part of his vest exposed. And the veterans who have traveled far to play in their own particular tournament only to be caught with a complete case of rheumatism, gout or disintegration in the first game of their first match.

For pure sadness, consider the groundskeeper and his assistants who have the proud responsibility of readying the grass for our big championship. For a full year, from September to September, their nurse, coddle, baby, and practically drool over each blade of grass on the stadium courts. They wrap up each little blade in frosty weather lest it catch cold.

They water the turf in times of drouth. They fan it with a refrigeration process when excess heat appears. They shoo insects away like a mother chasing nasty mosquitoes off Junior's brow.

They preen and pet and manicure the mighty turf of those stadium courts in preparation for the one big week, when the ladies and gentlemen of the tennis world will come to tread lightly and daintily across its perfect surface.

Imagine the horror of these precise and patient workmen when thinking tournament officials spoil their handiwork by allowing the players to wear spikes. Yes, great, long, sharp saw-toothed spikes that churn, bite, chew, and completely usurage the lovely turf. In 15 minutes of play a man wearing spikes can ruin a court. In one set of charging up and down, stopping, starting, sliding, a player can render a court so miserable that it is not fit to play on.

At Wimbledon, the cradle of tennis, a spike has never touched the turf. Wimbledon officials would just as soon turn loose a herd of pigs or an elephant onto the stadium courts as to countenance the presence of a player with spiked shoes. They know, as everyone with eyes should, that tennis is a game of skill based on true bounces of the balls, and that once spikes have churned up divots there is no such thing as a true bounce.

Much of the pleasure of watching the current nationals at Forest Hills has been ruined by the condition of the spike-scarred turf. The miserable grass cost Jack Crawford of Australia his match with Joe Hunt on Sunday, and the Australian was very bitter.

"The court was a bloody pig-sty, nothing else," he said.

The other day the committee again allowed spikes and you should have seen the No. 1 court when Johnny Doeg went to work on it. Weighing well over 200 lbs., and all of it ungraceful, Doeg had the place looking like a plowed field by the time he had won two of the first three sets of his match against Adrian Quist, The Australian, accustomed to the perfect courts of his own country (where spikes are not allowed), was a straight-jacket subject toward the end of the final set. If looks could kill, he would have laid waste the officials' section of the marquee when he lost his service in an important game when one of Doeg's returns dove into a divot hole just as Quist prepared to stroke it.

The first thing you know some player who has been beaten because of a court torn up by spikes is going to jump the net at the finish of a match—and not shake hands.

Hard Rain Takes Lives Of Canadian Birds

WINNIPEG, Man. (UP)—Hundreds of tiny sparrows were victims of a violent rain storm in Winnipeg during which 1.39 inches of rain fell in less than three hours.

Street cleaners were kept busy in one street after the storm, clearing away more than 300 of the birds which had been dashed to the ground from a tree in which they had taken shelter. In other parts of the city scores of the tiny bodies were found, beaten to the ground by the terrific rain and wind when they were caught away from their shelter.

Blood Of Marat Still Stains Old Volume

BATON ROUGE, La. (UP)—It may not be the most expensive autograph in the world, but it possibly is the most unusual, — that which is composed of the blood of Jean Paul Marat, French physician and scientist of the 18th century.

The autograph, as it is called, is the blood of Marat which fell on a copy of Pere Labat's "Voyages de l'Amerique" when he was stabbed by Charlotte Corday in 1793. The book is part of the collection of the Louisiana State University.

TWINS BORN
PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UP)—Twins born to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Sacchetti automatically became an aunt and uncle at birth. Their niece is six-month-old Sheila Sacchetti.

Nazis Dispute Pole Claims

man advance units had plunged across south Poland to Lwow in a drive to cut off Polish communications with Rumania.

The Nazis admitted that their war machine had met serious resistance as they attempted to close their pincers around Warsaw and cut off probably 18 Polish divisions west of the capital. This, they charged, was due to sniping and sabotage by Polish civilians.

The German high command declared that as a result Polish resistance would be broken "by all means" which was taken to mean bombardment of open cities.

In reply, British Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax announced in parliament that such disregard of the rules of humane warfare — if confirmed — would result in retaliation by the allied powers.

Britain would, he said, feel herself "completely free to take such action as may be deemed appropriate" in order to retaliate.

Britain's war aims, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain said, include liberation of the Czechs from German rule.

On the western front, the French troops pressing into the Rhineland on both sides of Saarbrücken reported that they had consolidated their positions and were almost in a position for direct attack on the Siegfried line.

Large scale operations against the Germans may be expected at any time, it was said in Paris, as a result of the successful French operations leading up to the Saar river in German territory. German artillery laid down a heavy fire on the French positions without effect, the reports said, and a new French advance was underway in the Sierck sector.

French sources reported that Adolf Hitler had about 2,250,000 men under arms, with a million each on the western and eastern fronts.

"Cabbie" By Daylight Leads Band At Night

NEW ORLEANS, (UP)—Frank (Val) Barbara makes a living out of cabs and cabanas without being able to read music and without being classed as a singing cab-driver.

Here's how he does it: During the day he forgoes music entirely, with the exception of an occasional tweet on the whistle he uses to call cabs. He works as a cab starter—from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

After dark, Barbara directs his dance band. He doesn't know anything about music personally, but he knows there's money in dance bands.

Nine-Year-Old Dog Drinks From Bottle

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UP)—Muggsy, the 9-year-old mongrel dog owned by Ada White of Evansville, is more than just a mutt—he's a canine companion.

First among his accomplishments is the ability to drink from a bottle. He accompanies his mistress to a soft drink stand and waits patiently for the bottle. When she hands it to him, he wraps his forelegs around it and drinks directly from it. No straw or saucer is necessary.

GANGDOM GETS DESSERTS
IN CURRENT FILM
AT EMPIRE

Gangdom gets its just desserts in
"The Man Who Dared," the Warner
Bros. picture featuring Jane Bryan,
Charley Grapewin and Henry O'- Neill which opened yesterday at the Empire Theatre and will be shown for the last time tonight.

For it's a heart-warming tale of a lovable family, just such simple, homey folks as are likely to be living right next door to you. There is Grandpa, a vigorous old veteran of the Spanish-American War;
his married daughter and her husband, and the four children, one girl and three boys.

Into their normal existence there suddenly comes stark melodrama.
They witness events leading up to the murder of their next door neighbor. The neighbor is a detective who had unearthed evidence concerning the alliance between local gangsters and police officials.

The gangsters set about a campaign of terrorism designed to frighten the family next door to the scene of their crime from ever testifying against them. Their first act is to beat the father of the family
almost to death, but they over-play their hand when they kidnap the youngest of the boys, for that makes Grandpa fighting mad.

Grandpa sets out single-handedly to find the boy, rescue him and get his revenge on the gangsters. Foolhardy and futile as the old man's efforts might seem, he proves to be not only courageous but also very shrewd, and he succeeds admirably.

Schools Win
Fair Awards

In teaching art we are not training artists, but trying to help the children know how to adjust themselves to an ever changing world and become useful and happy citizens.

I believe many children have been handicapped by some of our imposed methods of teaching art in the past. Since the teaching of this subject has been integrated with other school subjects, it has become a joyful, creative experience and not merely another painful task.
Furthermore, the improvement has been so noticeable that the judges of the exhibits wished to know the name of our art supervisor.

An outstanding feature of the exhibit was a unit of work on Treasure Island and the Bay area entered by the Mount Aukum School. This display received more favorable comments than any other exhibit, and would have won first prize had it been entered earlier.
All entries for competition closed in June.

Diamond Springs School won first premium award for a frieze in connection with social studies. It also had a fine display of basketry by the intermediate grades.

Blairs School was awarded a blue ribbon for an outstanding unit of work on Indian life.

Cold Springs School entered a unit on homes. This was a very fine display but it was entered too late to receive an award.

Union School entered a products map of El Dorado County and an imaginary castle in the Sierras which was the delight of all the children.

Penobscot School was awarded a blue ribbon for a unit of work on nature study.

Cave Valley entered work in book craft and water color design for which it received a blue ribbon.

An excellent entry in the field of art was a representation—still life
—by Vernon Cook, Cold Springs School. This entry was highly praised by the judges but was entered too late for competition.

Other schools which had entries are: Summit School had a display of weaving and scrap books; Fairplay School nature study and basketry; Pollock Pines School entered posters on conservation; Buckeye School, soap carving. Salmon Falls School, wood carving and coping saw work; Sly Park School,
soap carving; Kelsey School, sewing; Deer Valley School, sewing and nature study; Tennessee School,
paper tearing display; El Dorado,
primary grades, handwriting; Live Oak School, coping saw work; Negro Hill School, a study of birds;
Nashville School, posters; Spring-vale School, soap carving and pen and ink work; Grizzly Flat School, woodwork; Smith's Flat School,
posters; Brandon School, coping saw work.

Coloma School entered a very creditable display of posters which were awarded blue and red ribbons.

We regret at this writing we cannot give a complete list of the winners of awards, however, when the returns are complete from the State Fair, the names of all of the winners will be published.

TRAINING BABY IN MENTAL HEALTH

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

ACCORDING to the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, there are now a million children in our public schools who will have a mental breakdown at some time during their life.

However, mental hygienists maintain that most of these children could be saved from this catastrophe if their parents and teachers were to provide a more calm, serene, and poised home and school life; if adults learned to manage themselves better and to cultivate in themselves better mental health; if,
moreover, parents and teachers would acquire enough wisdom and skill in guiding growing children.

Mental Health Defined

That person has good mental health who manages himself well, gets along agreeably with other people and seldom worries. He makes his feelings his friends, and not his enemies. He builds in himself those habits he knows to be most useful to him as an individual and as a member of society.

He works hard when he works,
and plays hard when he plays.
Others like to work with him and play with him. When he has a job, he does it wholeheartedly, and never seeks excuses to postpone it or to run away from it. He has the courage to face tasks he knows he ought to face. He is not a quitter or a coward.

He doesn't try to fool himself or others, nor does he pity himself. He is ever ready to accept the consequences of his own shortcomings, and does not blame others for his failures.

Not a Question of Being Smart

Mental health is not a measure of how smart a person is. Some very brilliant persons become mentally sick, and some rather stupid persons enjoy excellent mental health. But it is a measure of how well a person uses his mind and emotions to get along with himself and others. A better word for mental health might be emotional health.

While this column has not been labeled "mental health," one of its major aims is just that, as you can see. For building good mental health, we must begin with the baby, if not
with his grandparents.

A free list of books on mental health and personality may be had by writing me in care of this paper,
enclosing a self-addressed envelope
with a three-cent stamp on it.

STUDEBAKER SALES FOR AUGUST BEST
SINCE 1928

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Retail
sales of Studebaker passenger cars
and trucks in the final ten days of August reached the largest total of any ten-day period since July, 1929, Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker Corporation, announced today. The month's retail deliveries set a new high for August since 1928.

Deliveries in August amounted to 8,598 as compared to 3,717 in August, 1938 and 7,916 in July of this year. Mr. Hoffman pointed out that it is unusual for August sales to exceed sales of July and that such a result has been especially abnormal since the model year was advanced so that August sales come practically at the end of the season.

Factory sales of passenger cars
and trucks last month amounted to 6,951, the biggest August since 1929
and more than 2 3-4 times factory sales volume in August, 1938. For the first eight months of the year factory sales amounted to 60,543 units against 26,389 in the corresponding period of last year. Retail deliveries for the first eight months of the year totalled 54,507 compared with 25,672 in the like period
last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Veerkamp were among those in town on Wednesday from the Missouri Flat section.
